The problems with the computer support site have been resolved, The portal is not going to return in its current form as we were already developing a much more advanced system which would replace it, for now a page will display informing users of the problem we have had. In a few weeks the page will redirect to the forums until the new site comes live.

The site has been removed from the attack site list at Google after the portal was removed which contained compromised code.

If you want to help with content for the new site please get in touch via the contact us page.

We apologise for the inconvenience caused by the problems yesterday
